Three great problems confronting the ad their relations to the church Meh are being discussed at the annual hich began Wednesday, are: the negro eling for the Missouri Dairy Association. stion, industrial relations between apital and labor, and international rebijonships. The general theme will be the Church and World Brotherhood,

Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese mbassador to Great Britain, head of the Chinese delegation to the Conference on limitation of Armament, will be probably, the most interesting international speaker. The common people of the world are, to m astonishing degree, ruling the Conference on Limitation of Armament, according to the view expressed by the council. h says that the so-called common people of America never before have exercised such worldwide influence. According to the belief of the council, it is especially accessary that the common people of the world continue to take an interest in the ference and its actions, for, if they important marticulars, though a sure the success of the Conference and the Ont steps toward an eventual "wares world' will have been taken. Russia, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America will issue a Christmas and New Year's appeal to the church-Sunday schools and Christian homeof the United States. It will ask for money to belp save 5,900,000 children from starving. The call for funds is being issued at the request of Herbert Hoover, who declares the need is imperative. President Harding has given his emphatapproval to the plan.

The efforts to raise funds will not be tganized as a drive, but will consist of straight appeal to the churches.

The annual meeting of the Federal Council of Churches is the most signifi-cant gathering of an inter-denominational character throughout the year. It deter-mines policies for concrete activities of operative nature, not only for the churches officially affiliated with it but ilso with other Protestant bodies which susperate in various phases of its work.
